DATE: Thursday February 2, 2017

TIME: 7:30 pm

LOCATION:

North Shore Jewish Community
Centre/Congregation Har El
1305 Taylor Way
West Vancouver

PRESENTERS:

Dr. Susan Siklos & Dr. Kimberley Da Silva

Do you ever wonder if your child is falling behind or having a harder time than he/she should? Do you ever wonder if your child is ahead of the game and school is too easy? Do you worry that your child is not meeting his/her potential, but can't figure out why? This talk will help you better understand typical learning development in children and teens, when to be concerned, and what to do if your child is struggling at school.

Dr. Susan Siklos & Dr. Kimberley Da Silva are Registered Psychologists at the North Shore Stress and Anxiety Clinic who work with children and youth. They specialize in the assessment of learning, social, and emotional concerns, including learning disabilities, giftedness, ADHD, and anxiety. Dr. Siklos and Dr. Da Silva also treat anxiety, mood, and behavioural concerns in children and youth. Dr. Siklos has specialized training in neuropsychological assessment including brain injuries, concussions, neurological disorders, and complex neurodevelopmental disorders (including FASD).
